MAY DELAY ACTION ON TAX MEASURES

Indications Point to Effort at Postponement Until Next Session.

SENATOR BAILEY EXPECTS ACTION

Hot Weather Believed to Be Cause of Present Movement Among Solons.

That an effort will be made to shove the whole corporation tax question, and with it the income tax question, over until next session of Congress is the talk about the Senate today.

As yet, the Senate leaders have not framed a plan to take this step. At any rate, they are not admitting that they will take such a course. But the talk among Senators in the cloakrooms and corridors today is that an attempt will be made to postpone action until the regular session. For several days talk of this sort has been rife.

as the weather gets hotter and Senators see stretching out before them the un-inviting vista of endless discussion of the whole gamut of corporation control matters with the thermometer hovering about 90 degrees in the shade. Even stanch patriots wilt slightly at this

Bailey Expects It.

It is known that Senator Bailey is looking for an attempt to put the special tax question over. He made it clear today that he expected an attempt would be made to do this. Senator Bristow said he had not heard of an attempt to put the matter over. But other Senators said they had no doubt this effort would Moreover, it is generally expected that the atempt to put the ques-tion over will lead to strong opposition and, perhaps, add to the complexities of an aiready complex situation.

One difficulty that will arise if an attempt is made to put the special tax question over is that the cry will be raised at once that postponement is a scheme for avoiding any legislation at all on the subject. The Senate Demat all on the subject. The Senate Democrats are expected to fight postponement and no doubt some of the insurgent Republicans will do likewise, not because they like the corporation tax, but because they regard any plan that does not contemplate settlement of the matter now as a flank movement intended to shut off any legislation. Taft An Obstacle.

Another difficulty that arises in the way of postponement is found in the fact that President Tart desires the net earnings tax enacted in order to get the additional revenue at once.

net earnings tax enacted in order to get the additional revenue at once. If the question goes over, there will be no returns from the net earnings tax until a year from July, or until the beginning of the fiscal year opening July I, 1910. This would deprive the Government of sadly netded revenue at a time when it is nesded worst.

The lowest estimates made today on the discussion that will be required to pass a corporations tax measure are from two to three weeks.

It was pointed out by some Senators that in a political way it was desirable that the proposed legislation be put through this session and that President Taft would be criticised in many quarters if nothing were done and the matter, went over.

Much interest attached today to the conference which will be held at the White House tonight. At that conference it is expected President Taft will supervise the operation of putting the finishing touches on the net earnings tax amendment. Those at the conference will be Attorney General Wickersham and Senator Root, who are drafting the amendment; Secretary of State Knox, and the Republican members of the Finance Committee headed by Senator Aldrich.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR Y. M. C. A. CAMP

Annual Event Is for Members and Leaders of Boys'

Department.

Final arrangements are being com pleted for the Y. M. C. A. summer camp at South River, Md., which is to be opened June 28 and continue until July 12. . The South River camp was organized several years ago and is located on a high bank at the mouth of the South River and within view of Chesapeake Bay. The camp equipment includes four large sleeping tents, a dining tent, cook tent, recreation tent, a gasolene launch, row boats, athletic field, baseball diamond, and other features of a like character.

row boats, athletic field, baseball diamond, and other features of a like character.

There are contests of all sorts arranged by the officers of the association and superintended by them and prizes are distributed at the end of the season for excellence in the various sports. A baseball league is organized with teams from each of the sleeping tents. The food prepared and served to the boys is excellent and in the years the camp has been operated there has not been a single case of sickness.

Each year one long walk has been taken to Annapolis, where the youngsters are shown over the Naval Academy buildings. The camp is established for the benefit of members and leaders of the boys' department of the Y. M. C.-A., and is open to boys between the ages of twelve and seventeen.

SCOTT AGAIN SLATED TO SUCCEED WILSON

Rumor of Kansas Man's Chances for Cabinet Place Is Revived.

DECEMBER IS DATE SET FOR THE CHANGE

Friends Confident That Report Is True-Taft Has Not Discussed It.

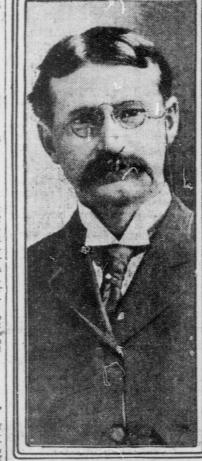

A report circulated last spring that Representative Charles F. Kansas, chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture, would Secretary James Wilson of the Department of Agriculture, in case the latter should resign, has been revived with the addition of the time being changed. The information credited to a member of the Cabinet is that Scott is to suc ceed Wilson next December.

President Taft has not discussed the subject with Scott and to that extent the matter is in the air, but the source of information is such that Scott's friends believe that before long he will enter the Cabinet.

The presentation took place at Dr. North's residence and was a complete surprise. Dr. North leaves the city tomorrow for Boston, where he will make his headquarters in the future. The presentation of the cup was made by W. A. Hatheway, chairman of the committee in charge of the purchase of the cup. Mr. Hatheway said the clerks of the Census Bureau wanted to pay some bureau.

Dr. North made a brief reply thanking the employes of the Census Bureau and expressing his deep appreciation of their action. He referred to their long association, and complimented the force for its loyalry and devotion to duty. The loving cup was on exhibition in the main corridor of the Census Bureau during the noon hour today. It is a handsome specimen of the silversmith's craft and rested on a hardwood base. Of plain design it contained only a brief inscription. The committee in charge of the presentation included Mr. Hatheway, J. O. Barrows, L. H. Spicer, Missellizabeth Farnum, and Miss J. E. Bartlett.

M'CUMBER CHARGE

Characterizes Attitude of Leather Manufacturers as Ingratitude.

"If we were lo search for some great example to portray the limit of human ingratitude we could scarcely find ore apt one than this attempt of the manufacturers of leather and leather goods to deprive the stockman and farmer of the little remnant of protec-tion which has been left to him on

Senator McCumber, of North Dakota, in these words bitterly attacked the New England manufacturers of shoes and the manufacturers of leather who are working hard for free hides. Senator McCumber is a member of the Finance Committee and has been instrumental in getting that committee to report in favor of a 15 per cent duty on hides, favor of a 15 per cent duty on hides, though the House put them on the free list. In taking this position, the one favored by his State, Senator McCumber is afrayed squarely against the position taken by Senator Lodge and the New England Senators.

The North Dakota Senator denounced the "gross injustice" of the demand for free hides. He said it became the more startling when it was remembered that the protective system had built up the leather manufacturing industries until it had enabled them not only to dominate the whole American market, but also to enter into every other market in the world.

Having secured these advantages," also to enter into every other market in the world.

"Having seoured these advantages," said Senator McCumber, "and defrauded the American farmer of a duty on calf hides, they have nad their appetites whetted for further advantages, and now, with a lobby, amazing in its power and influence, they seek to destroy the last vestige of protection."

Senator McCumber described the attitude of the leather manufacturers as wanting to compel the farmers to buy goods at protected prices, and sell their own goods with no protection.

"I have heard," said he, "that the strife for gain hardens or destroys men's consciences, but I can scarcely conceive of a man who could make that proposition without a blush. And yet it is made in this Congress with an aggressiveness that will swerve many from the straight path of equal protection to all."

Senator McCumber declared that he was not only for a 15 per cent duty on hides, but for a 25 per cent duty on hides, but for a 25 per cent duty on hides, but for a 25 per cent duty on hides.

This is the third day of the discussion on the subject of hides. It is hoped by Senators that a vote can be reached today.
